Specification

The examiner has not checked the specification to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors (grammatical, typographical and idiomatic). Cooperation of the applicant(s) is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant(s) may become aware of in the specification, in the claims and in any future amendment(s) that applicant(s) may file.

Applicant(s) is also requested to complete the status of any copending applications referred to in the specification by their Attorney Docket Number or Application Serial Number, if any.

The status of the parent application(s) and/or any other application(s) cross-referenced to this application, if any, should be updated in a timely manner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112/101

Claims 15-16 provide for the use of an adsorbent but, since the claim does not set forth any steps involved in the method/process, it is unclear what method/process applicant is intending to encompass. A claim is indefinite where it merely recites a use without any active, positive steps delimiting how this use is actually practiced.

Claims 15-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed recitation of a use, without setting forth any steps involved in the process, results in an improper definition of a process, i.e., results in a claim which is not a proper process claim under 35 U.S.C. 101. See for example Ex parte Dunki, 153 USPQ 678 (Bd.App. 1967) and Clinical Products, Ltd. v. Brenner, 255 F. Supp. 131, 149 USPQ 475 (D.D.C. 1966).

Because these claims are not statutory, they have not been treated further on the merits at this time. In the event that the claims are rewritten as proper claims, they may be subject to a restriction requirement in a subsequent action that will still be made FINAL at that time.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims as presented are highly indefinite and confusing and the subsequent office action is presented on the basis of what the examiner thinks that applicant intended to claim. With respect to claim 1, it is unclear whether the "crystal" is formed from the core or from the core and the layer. Additionally, it is not even clear how a crystal can possibly "form" from a core. The examiner has examined the French priority document and cannot determine whether the concept of a "crystal" was presented therein in the same way that it is being defined in the instant application. As a result, the examiner has no idea what constitutes the "crystal" of the claims.

Furthermore, the language is indefinite in the recitation of "diffusional selectivity". There is no definition presented in the specification that would indicate what this concept means. Moreover, "selectivity" implies that this figure was calculated based on the adsorbent being selective to something that is not even identified in the instant claims. As a result, this terminology also apparently constitutes relative terminology for which there is no precise point of reference.

In view of the foregoing, the examiner has evaluated the claims as directed to a central "core" that can be empty or made of adsorbent material such as zeolite, and a continuous layer around this "core" that is also comprised of an adsorbent material such as a zeolite.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by US 4,420,419 to Ogawa et al.

Ogawa et al. Disclose an adsorbent composition. There is a central "core" material over which is applied an outer layer. Ogawa et al. Teach that the core improves the adsorption of the entire granule, and that it has more adsorptive material relative to binder material than the outer layer to facilitate this function. This would meet the claimed limitation regarding the adsorptive capacity of the core being greater than the outer layer. Both the inner and outer sections are comprised of adsorbent mixtures of zeolite and binder. Since the zeolitic material of the inside core contains "channels" and porous, it is pointed out that this renders the core of the material partially empty, as claimed by applicant.

The examiner considers that this disclosure anticipates the instantly claimed composition. Any limitations such as the diffusional selectivity or the "crystal" size are considered to be inherent to the material, particularly in view of the rejection under 35 USC 112 above indicating that these parameters are ambiguous and cannot be precisely interpreted. See particularly the abstract and column 2.

Conclusion

Applicants are advised that any evidence to be provided under 37 CFR 1.131 or 1.132 and any amendments to the claims and specification should be submitted prior to final rejection to be considered timely. It is anticipated that the next office action will be a final rejection.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Elizabeth D. Wood whose telephone number is 571-272-1377. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F, 5:30-2:00.
